BIPAC Co-Hosts Telephone Forum With Wisconsin U.S. Senator Ron Johnson

Forum Offers Important Dialogue With Wisconsin Job Creators & Workers

WASHINGTON DC – Continuing its efforts to engage and better inform the business community on key issues before Congress, BIPAC today joined the National Federation of Independent Businesses (NFIB), the Associated Builders & Contractors (ABC), the Associated General Contractors (AGC) and the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) in hosting a telephone forum with U.S. Senator Ron Johnson (R-WI), who is the new Chairman of the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Government Affairs. The forum offered members of the business community in Wisconsin an opportunity to hear directly from their Senator and ask questions on issues that impact their businesses and jobs in their communities.

“A core mission of BIPAC is to encourage business owners and workers to engage in the political process and that starts with keeping them informed on issues in Washington that impact their everyday lives,” said Bo Harmon, BIPAC’s senior Vice-President for Political Affairs. “We appreciate Senator Johnson giving an update from Capitol Hill to our members today and for listening to the concerns of job creators and workers in Wisconsin. This type of ongoing dialogue is critical to strengthening our political process and engaging the business community on issues important to them.”

Since 2000, BIPAC’s Prosperity Project (P2®) has helped thousands of employers across the country become better advocates for their own business, public policy and political objectives. By working with these employers and offering technology to strengthen education, communication and activation, the P2® project has provided over 850 million employer-to-employee educational messages to help motivate and activate private sector workers to participate in the political process.
